L.O: To write sentences with expanded noun phrases.

Can you find...
The elderly man,
wearing a green
blanket, who is gazing into the distance.

The elderly man gazing into the distance
with a green blanket.

This sentence is an expanded noun phrase.

Can you find a noun in my sentence?

Can you see the adjective in my sentence?

By adding 'with...' this makes my sentence
an expanded noun phrase.

In the crowd, is an elderly man gazing into the distance with a green blanket.

Gazing outwards, is a pretty woman hiding behind a door with a white bonnet on.

There is a lady, who is chatting to a man, with flowers in her hat.

Have a go at the 'I Spy' game using this format with your partner.

Once you have done as many as you can orally, I'd like you write at least two, more if you can, in your book.

See if you can challenge yourself to use some of the sentence starters.

Remember each of your sentences should include a capital letter and full stop!

- Extra Challenge / Extension

Can you change the order of your sentence like this...

The rosy-cheeked little girl with the plaits in her hair stared intently as her elegantly-dressed mother wrapped an arm around her.

Staring intently, the rosy-cheeked little girl with the plaits in her hair...
